

Each Alliant Power regional warehouse has order cut-off times established to ensure that we have time to pick, pack, and ship orders the same day. Order cut-off times are determined based on carrier pick up times at each location. While we will make every effort to ship orders that come in after the cut-off times the same day, we cannot guarantee same day shipping.

Less than truckload (LTL), shipments are orders that will be shipped on a pallet due to weight or volume. For reference, single turbos that exceed 70 lbs or multiple-box orders that exceed 120 lbs must be shipped LTL on a pallet for safe transit.

These orders must be received by 1:00 PM to be considered for same day shipment. Orders that require LTL shipment not received by 1:00 PM will ship the following business day. Large stock orders may take 48 hours to ship dependent on volume.

<sup>2</sup> Alliant Power does not have a daily scheduled FedEx pick up in all regions. FedEx pick ups must be requested and are not guaranteed to ship same-day.
